Are you interested in a career in the translation industry or in university administration? Would you like to gain some practical translation and terminology management experience in Germany over the summer?

The International Office at HSBI is seeking a highly motivated student with a strong interest in intercultural communication. As an intern, you will be working closely with the university translator, gaining relevant experience in the tasks below:

- Translating documents into English for the university's administration and faculties using Trados Team
- Post-editing machine-translated texts
- Proofreading English texts written by university members
- Managing small translation projects in coordination with the university translator
- Researching terminology and creating subject-specific glossaries
- Assisting the university translator in larger translation projects with various stakeholders from all areas of the university

(Please note that tasks may vary depending on the starting date, current projects as well as the candidate's skills and abilities.)

Requirements:

- You should be studying Modern Languages with an emphasis on Translation and German as one of your foreign languages; your English skills should be at native or near-native level
- You must have completed at least two years of undergraduate study
- First experience with CAT tools and MT is desirable
- Good communication and interpersonal skills
- Interest in the inner workings of a university
- Ability to work independently as well as in a team
- Ability to work with words creatively and a proactive attitude

We offer:

- A supportive work environment
- Opportunity to get to know the German higher education system, gain intercultural experience and enhance your practical translation and terminology management skills
- Scholarship of €450/months (for up to three months) plus payment of the semester contribution (approx. €300) to register at the university including a free Germany-wide public transport pass
- Assistance with finding accommodation

Application:

Please submit the following documents in a single PDF file:

- Letter of motivation (max. 1 page)
- CV listing your prior education and work experience (if available)
- A copy of your transcript (attended courses and grades)

The closing date for applications is 29 November 2024. No German translation of documents necessary.

If you have any questions about the internship, please contact Ms Ana-Katrina Büttner at ana-katrina.buettner@hsbi.de.

To submit the application, please contact the International/Education Abroad Office of your institution. Students must apply through the Education Abroad office at their university first!

About HSBI and the International Office:

HSBI works closely with industrial communities and businesses as well as social and cultural institutes in the region, with regards both to teaching and applied research. Its more than 10,000 students are enrolled in over 60 degree courses across three campuses in Bielefeld, Gütersloh and Minden. There are six faculties: Design and Art, Minden Campus (Architecture, Engineering, Computer Sciences), Engineering and Mathematics, Social Sciences, Bielefeld School of Business and Health. HSBI has over 150 partnerships worldwide and is constantly expanding its international collaborations.

The International Office is the “international hub” of HSBI. Our responsibilities include supporting international students and providing advice and support to students, teaching staff and other employees when it comes to undertaking the adventure of staying abroad. In addition to coordinating and running international programmes, we also attract third-party funding and promote the process of internationalisation at the university with innovative ideas and concepts. Our work focuses on encouraging international mobility for all members of the university, but above all, students. Additional services such as a central translation service, a Language Center and a Welcome Center for international researchers at HSBI round off the service offer. All of the International Office’s activities serve to implement the International Strategy. It aims to foster a global perspective in all areas of the university, strengthen international activities and make HSBI an important player in the international educational landscape.
